Gun held to clerk's head

Armed robbers hit Pearlington store

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Pearlington convenience store clerk had a gun held to her head and was tied up with appliance cords when four men robbed the Junior Food Mart near the Mississippi-Louisiana state line, but escaped uninjured.

According to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Glen Strong, the robbery occurred at about 11 p.m. Sunday and was reported about 15 minutes later when clerk Shirley Catron freed herself from the cords she had been tied with in the store's cash register area.

Strong said $191 in cash and $334 in merchandise, mostly beer and cigarettes, had been taken by the four robbers, all of whom were described as Vietnamese men in their mid-20s.

He said Catron told authorities a dark-colored car pulled up to the store's gas pump, one of the men got out and went inside the store, where he ordered $5 worth of gasoline.

When he began to pay the clerk for the gas and she punched the amount into the cash register, he snatched back the $5, jumped across the counter, put a small-caliber pistol to the woman's head and forced her to open the register, Strong said.

After taking the money from the register, the man said he wanted more money. The investigator said the clerk told him she pointed to a safe, which was not locked, and the man took the money from it.

While the armed man was taking the money, the three other men were taking cigarettes, beer and other merchandise.

Officers from Mississippi Highway Patrol, St. Tammany Parish Sheriff's Department, Slidell Police Department as well as local units searched the area for the suspects but were unable to find them, Strong stated.

The investigation is continuing with Strong in charge. Deputy Albert Biehl assisted him in the initial investigation.

Car-train collision still under investigation

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Friday afternoon collision between a train and a passenger car remains under investigation this week.

According to Bay St. Louis Police Department Investigator Chuck James, no one was reported injured in the 4 p.m. wreck, although the car involved underwent "extensive damage" after being pushed off the railroad track parallel to Central Avenue.

James said the driver, Shelia Lang of 339 State Street, Bay St. Louis, told authorities that she had stopped at the railroad tracks and looked both ways, but did not see or hear anything approaching.

The investigator said the engineer on train stated that his vision was obscured by engine equipment and he did not see anything on the tracks.

James said Lang had turned off Central Avenue on to Washington Street, and the train hit her car at the crossing and pushed the vehicle about 60 feet before shoving it into the ditch between the tracks and Central.

The train stopped about 1,500 feet farther down the tracks, near the St. Charles Street intersection.

The woman "was out of the car and was walking around" when officers arrived at the scene and was apparently not injured, the investigator said.

Bay St. Louis Police Officer Tom Burleson responded to the call and was assisted by Officer Richard Hanna.

James is in charge of the investigation.

Hancock fire marshal reports misuse of pressure treated lumber could be fatal

By EDGAR PEREZ

Pressure treated lumber is designed for weather exposed applications where resistance to termites and decay is desired.

"Burning scraps of this material in fireplaces produces toxic fumes which will cause illness, injury or even death," warns Hancock Fire Marshal Jay Marsh.

"This pressure treated lumber contains an EPA-registered pesticide containing copper arsenate that protects it from termite attack and decay. Used for its designed purpose, such as outdoor construction of patios, porches walkways, bridges, etc. provides no problem to our health or environment," he continued.

"However, much of the discarded pieces of this treated lumber finds its way to other uses such as providing a dry even-burning fuel for fireplaces and wood burning heaters," Marsh noted.

"When used in fireplaces this burning material gives off a poisonous gas that is toxic and could be lethal in proper concentrations," he stated.

"Also, the ashes or dust from this material could be dangerous if inhaled. Wood shavings or chips should not be used for animal bedding or litter, nor should this wood be used where it comes in contact with any food products. Treated wood should be disposed of in the normal trash collection method or by burial and not by burning in open fires," the official explained.

For further information on pressure treated lumber contact the nearest lumber dealer, Marsh said.

NO INJURIES—State Trooper Eugene Little, far right, gathers information from Luther McInnis Jr. of Hattiesburg at an accident scene Tuesday. McInnis was driving a 1984 International truck and was making a left turn when he struck another truck which was attempting to pass. The second truck was driven by James R. Hancock of Gulfport. Hancock's truck ended up in the ditch. There were no injuries. Little said the accident is under investigation and no charges have been filed at this time. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

National commander to visit area American Legion posts

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

American Legion National Commander John P. "Jake" Comer, 55, of Quincy, Mass., will visit Hancock County area veteran organizations next Wednesday.

Comer will be in Waveland for breakfast with Post 77 and he will visit the Standard post at noontime.

A VIP tour of National Space Technology Laboratories is scheduled from Comer in the afternoon and he will be at Post 139 in Bay St. Louis Wednesday night.

Comer was elected national commander of the nation's largest veterans organization, at the 69th annual American Legion National Convention last year in San Antonio, Texas.

He is a U.S. Air Force veteran of the Korean War and served as a communications sergeant in West Germany until 1955.

Comer is currently the executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority and a deputy sheriff for Norfolk County.

Comer joined the American Legion in 1963 with the Thomas J. Roberts Post No. 76, West Roxbury, Mass.

He served as post commander and went on to become the state commander of the Massachusetts COMMANDER—Page 8A

Hancock deputy remains in intensive care

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
 A Hancock County Sheriff's deputy injured last week in an accident remains in the intensive care unit at Hancock Medical Center. John 'Eddie' Thornton received injuries Saturday morning when the sheriff's department patrol car he was driving collided with a Bay St. Louis fire truck early Saturday morning at the intersection of Second and Main streets in Bay St. Louis. Sheriff Ronald Peterson said Wednesday afternoon Thornton remains in intensive care and had undergone surgery a second time Monday night.

"Monday when Thornton still was having problems exploratory surgery was conducted and doctors found he had a ruptured spleen which had to be removed," Peterson said.

Thornton had undergone surgery earlier due to his injuries which included broken ribs, a punctured lung and a compound fractured ankle, he added.

Peterson said members of the sheriff's department are all praying for Thornton's speedy recovery.

A second deputy who was injured in the accident, Kenneth Hurst, was released from Hancock Medical Center on Tuesday.

Hurst received a broken cheekbone and numerous contusions and abrasions.

The accident was investigated by the Mississippi Highway Patrol and according to its report both the patrol car and the fire truck had failed to yield at the intersection.

The patrol car was responding to a burglary-in-progress call and the fire truck was responding to a fire alarm.

The patrol car was totaled and Bay Mayor Victor J. Frankiewicz

PRC alumni to organize in Hancock

By EDGAR H. PEREZ
Pearl River College Alumni Association has scheduled an organizational meeting for 7 p.m. Tuesday at City-County Library, US-90, Bay St. Louis.

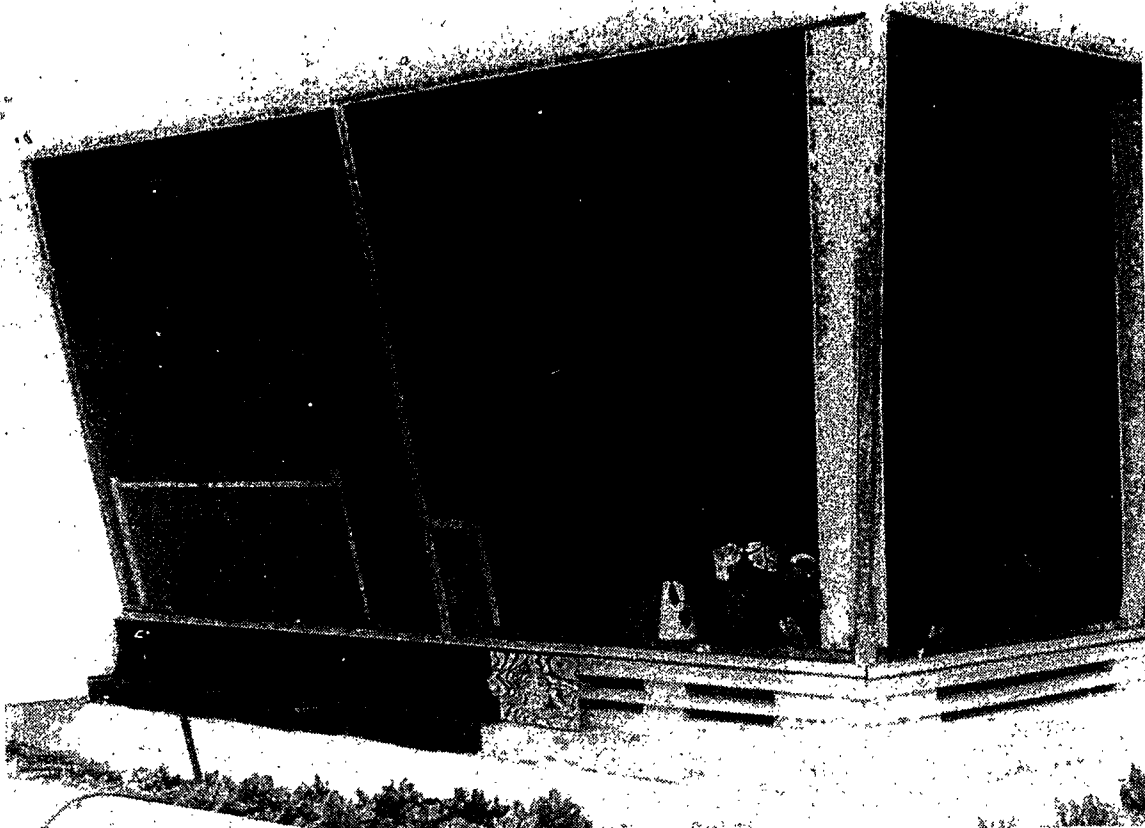

The program will feature Dr. Ted Alexander, PRC president; Mike Nelson, athletic director and head football coach; and Jim Nightengale, baseball coach.

"If we have a nice turnout for this Tuesday meeting we expect it to evolve into the first Hancock County chapter of the PRC Alumni Association," said Jim Thriffley of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County representative on the college's board of directors.

"In addition, we would like to extend a warm welcome to President Alexander and Coaches Nelson and Nightengale," Thriffley added.

Coordinator of the Tuesday meeting is Ms. Donna Wilson of Poplarville, executive director of the PRC Alumni Association.

For information on formation of the Hancock chapter or Tuesday's meeting contact Thriffley at 467-4138 or Wilson at 1-795-6801.

WINDOWS DAMAGED—Temporary coverings keep the elements out of side windows in the Hancock County Courthouse Annex, which houses the Hancock County Assessor-Tax Collector's offices. The windows were broken in a Saturday morning collision between a Bay St. Louis Fire Department engine and a Hancock County Sheriff's Department patrol car rushing to emergency calls. Assessor Edward Murtagh said flying debris might have caused the breakage, because "car parts were all over the place" and that it took about an hour to clean up the glass inside the building. Window repairs were scheduled for Wednesday. A nearby air conditioning unit was found to be undamaged, he added. The windows usually draw public attention because they are ornamented with painted designs and other decorations on holidays and special occasions. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

SPRAY PAINTED in red and black paint, a grave in Cedar Rest Cemetery bears a vandal's slogan, "Satan Saves Us All," which is visible despite the remains of a heavy fog Tuesday. The vandalism included several other tombs, the cemetery wall along Second Street, the side of the Hancock County Courthouse Annex, the Knights of Columbus Hall on Main Street and a stop sign on St. Charles Street, City Public Works Superintendent Norbert Redmond said Tuesday morning after the vandalism was discovered. City crews cleaned up the damage to public property and in the cemetery. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Traffic violation stop results in drug charge

BY DENA BISNETTE
Two men stopped on a traffic violation have been arrested on drug charges.

According to Bay St. Louis Police Department Investigator Chuck James, William Anthony Ruiz, 22, of Rt. 6, Box 217, New Orleans, La., and William Cato, 26, of 117 DeMontluzin St., Apt. 26, Bay St. Louis, were arrested at about 7:15 p.m. Friday at the intersection of Washington Street and Old Spanish Trail.

Both were charged with possession of marijuana with intent to distribute. James was unable to specify the amount of the drug the two had in the vehicle, but said "a sizeable bundle" was confiscated.

Cato was also charged with two counts of carrying a concealed weapon and the weapons were confiscated.

Ruiz, who was driving, was also charged with two counts of driving with improper equipment and one count of driving on a suspended license, the investigator added.

Bond was set at $5,500 for Cato and $5,300 for Ruiz.

James is in charge of the investigation.

Would You Believe...

At England's Oxford University, students were required to register according to rank. Freshmen not of noble birth wrote sine nobilitate after their names. Eventually this was shortened to s. nob. and was applied to any commoner who mingled with aristocrats. Hence, the word we know today as snob.

Cretan poet, Epimenides, decided to take a short nap while out hunting and didn't wake up for fifty years. American writer, Washington Irvine got the idea for the character Rip Van Winkle from this legend.

State R & D Center director to speak at Chamber

Dr. Jim Meredith, director of the Mississippi Research and Development Center, will be the featured speaker at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition Coffee, set for Thursday, Jan. 28, beginning at 7:30 a.m.

The coffee, the third in a series of meetings to discuss the value of economic development in Hancock County, will be held at Scaffidi's Wheel Inn Restaurant, US-90, Bay St. Louis.

Meredith, who has served as the director of the R & D Center since 1981, is a native of Fort Myers, FL and graduated from the University of Georgia with a bachelor's degree in business administration with an emphasis on management.

He received his MBA with a concentration in management from Georgia State University and a doctorate of higher education and public administration from the University of Georgia.

Prior to assuming his position with the R & D Center, he served as associate director for the board of trustees of the State Institutions of Higher Learning.

This board governs the eight state universities, the R & D Center, the University of Mississippi Medical Center and the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory.

Before joining the Board of Trustees in 1979, Meredith was assistant dean at the University of South Carolina and served as chief of staff to the Governor of South Carolina.

Meredith has authored numerous publications dealing with public administration and economics, and has also headed major research efforts on the subject of education, leadership and economic development.

This morning coffee is being sponsored by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. Chamber members and their guests are urged to attend this meeting, and may obtain further information by calling the Chamber office at 467-9048.

Word Wise

Have you ever had someone tell you that you look nice? Today that is a compliment, but if you had lived in the 13th century, you would have been offended. In those days, if someone said you looked nice, they meant you looked foolish. Nice is derived from the Latin word nescius: "ignorant." By the 15th century, nice referred to "elegant in conduct and dress," but in a derogatory way. It meant overly refined or delicate. Today, thankfully, nice has developed into a favorable connotation.

HELP WANTED!

The Editorial Column of The Sea Coast Echo may seem an unlikely place for a 'Help Wanted' ad, but that's exactly what you are going to find here today.

Some 22 young men in Hancock County between the ages of 12 and 15 years are becoming desperate in their search for a volunteer scoutmaster.

These 22 scouts are members of Troop 217 in Bay St. Louis—one of the outstanding units in Scouting's Cypress District and the New Orleans Area Council for that matter.

This enterprising group was featured in the national Scouting Magazine November-December 1987 issue in an account of their 14-day summer 'Mega-Trip' to the Smoky Mountains which includes color photographs documenting a white water rafting expedition through the Nantahala River rapids in North Carolina.

But the boys have suddenly found themselves leaderless after the retirement of a veteran scoutmaster in October and subsequent resignation of his replacement due to overriding job commitments.

The young men of Troop 217 are becoming distressed over the likelihood their troop will be disbanded if there is no scoutmaster to sign their rechartering documents which must be submitted to the area council by Feb. 28.

They are also concerned that it doesn't look good for them to be struggling to find an adult 18 years old or older to work with them—they feel the situation is giving them the image of being 'trouble makers' or 'a group of wild, maniacal boys.'

But they assure us that image is far, far from the truth, and that the volunteer who takes the job 'does not have to be good at controlling kids—our own leadership corps does a good job of that.'

You won't find the names of these guys in Troop 217 among those appearing before the Hancock County Youth Court referee or on the roster of those suspended or expelled from school.

As a matter of fact, where you will find the names of many of these scouts is on the Honor Rolls of the schools which they attend.

They deserve the energy and talents of an interested adult—a good scoutmaster.

The man who becomes scoutmaster of Troop 217 must be available from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday evenings for troop meetings at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Bay St. Louis, one weekend a month for out-of-town camping or field trips, and two weeks during the summer for the 'mega-trips.'

If you're interested or know someone who might be encouraged to fill this honorable position, call 467-1729 or write Scoutmaster, P.O. Box 367, Lakeshore, MS, 39558.

MEC

Mississippi
Economic Council
The State
Chamber of Commerce

Mississippi business leaders have identified three priorities for 1988.

Responding to a survey of the Mississippi Economic Council, the business leaders indicated priorities of an improved economic development effort, the continuation of education improvements and reform in the state's civil justice system.

The priorities were identified by the 400 business leaders who attended the Council's Economic Development Summit Conference in Jackson in December.

Ten representatives of government, including Gov. Ray Mabus and state business leaders, took part in a day-long discussion of efforts to move Mississippi ahead economically.

Conference participants from throughout Mississippi were asked to identify economic development priorities, barriers to economic development, legislative priorities for the 1988 session, educational priorities and priorities for the governor.

The business leaders followed the lead of Mabus in setting continuing education improvement as their top priority. Specific improvements included increased teacher pay, improved vocational and adult education, consolidation of higher education programs and additional funding for higher education.

Getting an equal score for the next priority were an improved economic development effort and tort reform. The business leaders overwhelmingly supported a merger of the economic development efforts of the State Department of Economic Development and the Research and Development Center. MEC has called for a merger of the two agencies since a Council study of the issue two years ago.

The business leaders also called for stronger economic development leadership from the governor's office, improvements in the state's image and completion of the unified economic development plan.

The group also called for legislative enactment of civil justice reforms as an economic development issue.

Principal reforms sought by MEC include an end to the doctrine of joint and several liability, reduction in the state's statute of limitations and penalties for the filing of frivolous lawsuits or proceedings.

NEW BEGINNING

"Mississippi should be leading and not lagging," Governor Ray Mabus told a large crowd moments after his inauguration.

Mabus brings with him to the governor's office a spirit of confidence and determination. The nation's youngest governor has identified his goals and his intent in lifting Mississippi to a position of leadership.

The governor's attention to education and economic development closely follow the goals of the Mississippi Economic Council. State business leaders long have recognized the importance of building up these two areas. The governor has those same priorities.

In his inaugural address, Mabus said, "We will not advance economically if we are stalled educationally."

THE SEARCH IS ON—Second Class Scout Edgar L. "Teddy" Belsom IV, left, and First Class Scout Dwayne C. Bremer, both members of Troop 217 sponsored by the Knights of Columbus in Bay St. Louis, review the November-December issue of 'Scouting' magazine which features an article on the troop's summer trip through the Smoky Mountains. Troop 217 is currently leaderless and its members are engaged in a desperate search for a volunteer scoutmaster who must be found before a Feb. 28 deadline for rechartering of the troop with the New Orleans Area Council. Belsom, 13, is son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Belsom III of Lakeshore and Bremer, 14, is son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Bremer of Waveland. ## 1987 High School Senior Drug Survey

The White House
Washington

By Ronald Reagan

Recently something happened here in Washington that makes me proud.

It had to do with a report that our Secretary of Health and Human Services, Dr. Otis Bowen, just released. Now, most of the time government reports, with all their statistics and dry language, are not particularly interesting. But this one is different, because it has to do with something of deep concern to every American family—attitudes about drug use among America's young people.

For each of the last 13 years, the government has surveyed America's graduating high school seniors. Every year, thousands of seniors in hundreds of schools across America have been asked about the drugs they have used, and about what they think of drug use.

For many years, what we found out proved pretty discouraging. In the 1970s, students told of ever more frequent drug use. Many of them said that some drug use—even drugs like cocaine—was okay, nothing to be afraid about. We had a drug epidemic, and too often our national leaders, in government and the media, did not seem to care.

Drug use, some said, was a victimless crime—no one got hurt, no one suffered, so what was the big deal? I have often thought that this message that drugs were not all that bad was part of a larger message. The same people who winked at us about drugs also told us that America's future was bleak. Too often they said that the traditional values of family and community were old-fashioned and out-of-date. It was as if they had lost faith in the future and wanted the rest of us to lose it, too.

But in communities around America, families, teachers, and young people themselves were finding out that those who said drug use was no big deal, whether they knew it or not, were telling a big lie, and a dangerous one.

Just how dangerous, we all saw two years ago when a promising athlete, a young man whose future could have been written in headlines and in gold, died of a cocaine overdose. Len Bias never got to play professional basketball. But today his mother says that his death may have been a message from God to America's young people—stay away from drugs, all drugs, all the time.

As you know, others have carried that message, too. For six years now, Nancy has been travelling around the country spreading the word. On one trip out West, a student asked her how to turn away from drugs when they were offered. She replied, "Just say no." Since then, thousands of "Just Say No" clubs have been started in schools around the nation. Students got the message, in many cases, long before adults.

That brings me back to the report—maybe you have heard the best news in it already. Last year, for the first time since the surveying began, a substantially smaller proportion of high school seniors—one-third smaller—acknowledged current use of cocaine than acknowledged it the year before. But that's not all.

Students are no longer buying the old line that experimenting with cocaine and other illegal drugs is safe. For many years only about a third of them said that using cocaine once or twice was dangerous. Last year almost half did. And nearly 90 percent said regular use was dangerous.

And cocaine use is no longer the "in" thing. In fact, almost all the seniors surveyed—97 percent—disapproved of regular cocaine use. And whether they thought one or two experiments dangerous or not, 87 percent disapproved of even trying cocaine.

Use of marijuana and amphetamines is also dropping. More than 10 percent of the members of the class of 1978 said they used marijuana daily. In the class of 1987, it was only about three percent, still too many, but much better than it was. And more than 70 percent—more than ever before—said that regular marijuana use is harmful.

So the message is out and America's young people have heard it—drugs hurt; drugs kill; drug use is nothing to brag about; stay away from drugs.

All this makes me proud. The one thing I have found you can always count on is that when we Americans get a message and decide to do something, watch out. There is nothing that can stop us.

I am proud—as I know you are—of Nancy and of the many adults who have worked against this plague. But most of all, and I know also you join me in this, I am proud of millions of young Americans who—one by one, or together with their friends—"Just Say No" to drugs.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—Before Gov. Ray Mabus can ever carry out his idea of setting priorities in the state budget, it seems essential that the legislature will have to get rid of its antiquated "single-shot" system of appropriating funds, a holdover from the 1890 Constitution.

Instead of using an omnibus budget bill, or a couple of bills, to create the state budget as is done in practically every other state, Mississippi's Legislature passes as many as 275 bills, each appropriating funds to a separate state department or agency.

There's a provision in the old constitution that each appropriation must be contained in a separate bill, except for the executive, judicial and legislative departments, common schools and to pay interest on state bonds.

For many years, lawmakers have interpreted the provision to mean every appropriation should be done by an individual measure. The number of appropriation bills has grown larger over the years, hitting a peak level of 275 in the past two sessions.

With so many spending bills flying back and forth from one house to the other, the appropriation process extends over weeks and it is virtually impossible to get the total budget in focus until the very end of the session.

It has also brought about such absurd situations as in 1985 when it was necessary to form 195 conference committees to resolve differences between the amounts in individual appropriation bills.

Although some lawmakers in the past have realized the single-shot method of funding state government was obsolete, there has not been any movement until the past several years to reform the system.

Last week, as the mood for change was surging through the hallways at the state Capitol, several key legislative advocates of doing away with individual appropriations and providing for an omnibus budget bill began pushing the idea.

Rep. Rick Fortenberry of Meridian, proposed a constitutional amendment to give the legislature power to fund state government in a single or several appropriation bills, eliminating the old language which has been used as the basis for the single-shot system.

Fortenberry said he believed that having one budget bill "would give the membership a better vehicle for adopting and establishing priorities than the present appropriation process."

Now, he said, if a member wants to reduce the appropriation of one agency and shift the money to another, "he has to tell the House 'you'll have to wait two weeks until you can put that money into the other agency or program,' because that agency's appropriation is not on the floor."

The second-term Meridian lawmaker, considered one of the leading scholars on legislation, said conceivably the appropriation committees of both the House and Senate could conduct joint hearings on the omnibus budget bill, eliminating much of the present duplication of hearings.

Ostensibly, the budget bill could be on the floor of both branches at the same time so we could concentrate on fiscal matters and have every agency budget on the table," Fortenberry said.

Meanwhile, Rep. Charlie Capps of Cleveland, the newly appointed chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said he was optimistic that there is "a lot of interest in" the idea of an omnibus budget bill at last, and he vowed to pursue it.

Capps had tried to do some spadework for the budget bill concept three years ago, bringing in a North Carolina budget authority to appear before the House Rules Committee and discuss how well the omnibus appropriation method works in that state.

"I couldn't stir up any interest in it back then, but I think that has changed now," Capps declared. "The system of appropriating money now is a killer. The amount of time we spend is endless."

One significant benefit of having the total budget on the floor at the same time, Capps said, "it would allow the entire membership of the House or Senate to participate in the appropriation bill that comes out on the floor."

His next step, Capps said, is to seek creation of an interim study committee of House and Senate members to see how other states handle the budgeting process. "There's got to be a better way to do it," he said.

News from the Capitol City

By Kevin Jones
Mississippi
Reporting Service

While Gov. Ray Mabus' inaugural festivities dominated public attention in the state's capitol last week, legislators took the important first steps towards getting down to work this session.

Though no significant votes were taken, a flood of proposed legislation was introduced, ranging from a bill suggesting catfish be dubbed the official state fish to three measures calling for the mandatory adoption of the county unit system.

The committee assignments made last week by new House Speaker

Tim Ford were lauded by many as remarkably fair and free of old-style politics. Senate committee assignments were expected earlier this week. (Jan. 18-22).

In previous years, political opponents of the House leadership were sometimes banished to lesser committee responsibilities. Ford, however, gave choice assignments to lawmakers who backed his election as speaker two weeks ago and to supporters of his opponent, Rep. Ed Perry.

Much of the nuts and bolts work of the legislature is done in committees, and each of the 2,000 introduced bills each year can be killed or given a significant boost toward passage into law depending on committee action.

Ford's committee assignments appear to give a good shot to Gov. Mabus' reform agenda, with key committee chairmen supporting items such as reform of the state's constitution, teacher pay raises, the county unit system and government reorganization.

For example, both Rep. Jim Simpson of Long Beach and Rep. Tommy Walman of McComb, who were named chairmen of the Education, and Ways and Means Committee (respectively) have strong educational backgrounds.

Preliminary polling indicates that at least 67 of the 122 House members favor establishing a method and timetable for setting up a constitutional convention.

While the number of black committee chairmen doubled from three to six, some black House members were upset that no blacks were on the constitution committee. Last year, blacks on that committee opposed rewriting the constitution. Ford said blacks were not intentionally excluded from the constitution committee.

Some county unit bills would allow each county to hold a referendum to let voters decide whether or not they want the unit system. Under the unit system, hiring and purchasing is consolidated. Its proponents say the unit system generates cost savings and could help safeguard against the kind of abuse which led to 49 supervisors in 23 counties being charged with felonies involving county purchases.

Other significant bills introduced include a call for giving the attorney general the power to investigate white collar crime, a measure that would force an elected official to resign while seeking another office, one calling for a constitutional amendment, another that would move to set up a state lottery, a bill allowing county supervisors to dig graves, a proposal to increase the minimum age for acquiring a driver's license and a measure that would establish an open primary election system.

With committees intact, lawmakers can now get down to the serious business of the session: deciding whether or not to run a particular idea into the law of the land.

Committee assignments handed out in the House include as follows: District 122 Rep. J. P. Compretta of Bay St. Louis: Conservation and Water Resources, Judiciary A, Local and Private Legislation—Chairman, Ways and Means, and State Library.

Public Safety positions filled

JACKSON—Four key appointments have been made within the Department of Public Safety/Mississippi Highway Patrol with the naming of a new chief, assistant chief, Training Academy director, and interim director of the Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics.

In announcing the appointments, Interim Commissioner of Public Safety Louisa Dixon said David R. Huggins, 40, of Brandon, a 19-year veteran officer, is assistant commissioner of public safety and chief of the Highway Patrol. He will be assisted in the day-to-day operations of the agency by Billie T. Hughes, 46, of McComb, who was named assistant chief.

Carol Boland, 37, of Clinton was placed in charge of the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy as director, and James R. Wallace, 41, of Jackson was named interim director of the Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics (MBN).

Dixon announced the appointments during a meeting with the majors of the Mississippi Highway Patrol and staff officers of the Department of Public Safety.

Huggins and Hughes, who were both majors with the Mississippi Highway Patrol, now hold the rank of colonel and lieutenant colonel, respectively. Boland has been instructor/coordinator at the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy since 1983, and Wallace holds the rank of major as MBN's deputy director of administration where he has been employed since 1972.

"The Department of Public Safety is the state's premier law enforcement agency and will lend its support to cooperate with municipal, county, federal and other state agencies of the law enforcement community in Mississippi," Dixon told the officers.

"The men and women of this agency have jobs that are important to maintaining law and order. It is a thankless profession and sometimes dangerous.

"I am here to find the resources with which to acquire what you need to perform your duties in the safest manner. Because of the services you provide this state's citizens, you deserve the equipment with which to do it best," Dixon said.

Huggins is an Alcorn County native who was commissioned into patrol service in 1969, and was assigned to the Tunica area. He served from 1971 until 1975 in the Senatobia area and was assigned to Executive Security in 1976. He was senior investigator in the northern region of the state from 1980 until mid-1987, when he became chief investigator/director of the Criminal Investigation Bureau of the Highway Patrol.

The newly named chief was graduated from Biggersville High School and attended Northeast and Northwest Mississippi junior colleges, the University of Mississippi and the University of Southern Mississippi.

In 1976, he was selected to study specialized criminal investigative techniques at Scotland Yard, a program sponsored by the University of London.

Huggins served from 1968 until 1974 in the Army National Guard's Howitzer Battalion, 108th Artillery Unit, where he attained the rank of sergeant.

He is filling the position previously held by D. D. Cvitanovich of Biloxi, who left the post to return to the Gulfport District as assistant inspector.

Lt. Col. Hughes, a 23-year veteran officer of patrol service, has been serving as southern region enforcement major since April 1984. As enforcement major of the 45-county southern enforcement region, Hughes supervised enforcement measures in districts headquartered in Jackson, Hattiesburg, Meridian, Gulfport, and Brookhaven.

He was commissioned into patrol service in 1964, and was assigned to the Natchez area. In 1980, he became commander of the 11-county Brookhaven District where he served until his promotion to major in 1984.

Hughes was graduated from Southwest Mississippi Junior College in Summit and holds a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from the University of Southern Mississippi, where he graduated with honors. He served from 1959 until 1965 in the Infantry Division of the Mississippi National Guard attaining the rank of staff sergeant. Hughes is a graduate of the Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy in Quantico, Va. He earned membership in the academy's "Possible Club" for maintaining a perfect score in firearms proficiency while in training.

The newly named assistant chief fills the position left vacant by Donald L. O'Cain, who resigned to work for another state agency.

In announcing the new director of the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy, Dixon said Boland was the top choice of a 15-member search committee which was formed during the latter part of 1987 to locate a permanent director.

Boland, a native of Lakeland, Fla., brings to the position a long list of degrees and experience in education, social work and law enforcement. She is a former sergeant with the Alachua County Sheriff's Office in Gainesville, Fla., and a former police officer with the Pompano Beach (Fla.) Police Department.

For more than one year, Boland was a part-time instructor in the department of criminal justice at Nova University in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Boland was graduated from Palm Beach Junior College in Lake Worth, Fla. In 1972, she earned a bachelor of arts degree from Florida Atlantic University in Boca Raton, Fla., where she majored in sociology with special emphasis on social welfare, and a minor in criminal justice. She completed her master's degree in criminal justice at Nova University in Davie, Fla., in 1980.

She is the first woman to be named as director of the Training Academy, which has been operational since 1966. The facility is the principal provider of minimum standards training to law enforcement officers in Mississippi.

The position of Training Academy director has been filled in an acting capacity since December 1985 when Kent McDaniel resigned to practice law in Jackson.

Wallace, the newly named interim director of the Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics, was named MBN staff commander in 1983. Prior to that he served as commander of intelligence.

Wallace holds a bachelor's degree from Mississippi College and has earned graduate hours at the University of Mississippi and the University of Louisville in Louisville, Ky. He is a graduate of the Southern Police Institute in Louisville, Ky., and the Federal Drug Enforcement Administration's 10-week national training institute. He served for two years in the Military Police Section of the United States Army prior to joining MBN.

Wallace served for two terms as president of the National Drug Enforcement Officers' Association.

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: Use your first instincts.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr 19) Stop all this procrastination and begin making some serious plans which will complement the serious challenges facing you. Ask friends for help.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) You have that tendency to overindulge in things sometimes, but it's better to do a little less than you expected than too much and regret it later.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) There is competition coming at you in all directions now, so make it work in your favor. Forget your ego, let this challenge increase productivity.

Cancer (June 21-Jul 20) Conflicting forces can seem overwhelming if you allow yourself to be pushed to the edge. Clear a way for yourself to emerge with your own ideas.

Leo (Jul 21-Aug. 22) Strengthen your weak spots now by consulting with friends and family. A competitor has you on the edge, but hold your ground for possible gains.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) By weighing your words carefully, you may come off well to someone who matters. What you say should reflect your views and not be distorted.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct 22) You have the tendency to be overly demonstrative, but sometimes it is best to be temporarily withdrawn in attitude rather than being overly emotional.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) The current situations facing you are confusing at least, but don't try to please everyone. Follow your own good sense of what is right and wrong.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Take that planned time off later. Right now you must charge into that newly-arrived opportunity that appears to have your name all over it.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An apparent set of mixed signals is easily straightened out. You must act quickly now to reassure others of your intentions; go for the gold.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) A misunderstanding needs to be smoothed over before it flares up into something more serious. Don't ignore the problem; act on it now.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) There are forces pulling you between two people very close to your heart, but this soon passes once your learn where their loyalties are for you.

If you were born this week, you will soon learn that being nice to others can only work in your favor. Your swift mood changes leave people wondering about you. Stabilize your personality to get more out of your friends, and your life.

Chamber schedules business seminars

"Lunchtime Business Seminars" will be the title of a series of lectures, sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, beginning Friday, Jan. 29.

Joycelyn D. Stabler, a consultant with Group Performance Processes, will conduct the workshops, which are scheduled at The Landmark Restaurant, Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

The workshops, to run consecutive Fridays for six weeks, will be conducted from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and will include a dutch-treat lunch.

The first topic of discussion will be Techniques for Problem Solving and Decision Making. Other topics set for the remaining meetings will include Quality Circles - Employee Involvement in Decision Making, Leadership, Performance Measurement, Self Image Professional Image and Motivation.

Those interested in attending the workshops and need further information should contact the Chamber office at 467-9048.

News Briefs

SPECIAL MEETING

Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District Board President Betty Diboll has called a special meeting at 4 p.m. Thursday in the superintendent's boardroom at Bay Senior High.

Topics on the agenda late Wednesday included a report on the board's annual inspection of the school, which will begin at 10 a.m. Thursday at Bay Junior High School.

Also on the agenda is reconsideration of a First Baptist Church request for use of Bay High stadium, which Diboll said was originally turned down Monday night because the request, turned into the superintendent's office Jan. 4, had not been turned over to the board 24 hours prior to Monday's meeting in compliance with a board policy.

PASTOR'S ANNIVERSARY

First Missionary Baptist Church, corner Sycamore and Third streets, Bay St. Louis, Sunday will celebrate the first pastorship anniversary of Rev. William James Harper. Mrs. Harper will also be honored at the 2:30 p.m. service at the church featuring guest sermon by Rev. Curtis Durr of Rescue Mission Baptist Church, Gulfport. The Rescue Mission Choir will perform. Refreshments will be served in the Fellowship Hall following the service.

FAITH ASSEMBLY

Pastor Larry Bradley and Congregation of Faith Assembly of God, in Kiln invite the public to one service only with the Coleman family of Navarre, Fla. at Faith Assembly Sunday, Jan. 24, at 11 a.m. Worship Service. For more information call 255-2567 or 255-3794.

SPACE SHUTTLE ENGINES—Technicians prepare space shuttle flight engine 2022 for shipment to Kennedy Space Center. The third and final engine to be used on the mid-summer flight of the space shuttle Discovery was packed Tuesday and was scheduled to leave National Space Technology Laboratories at 2 a.m. Thursday morning for the Florida launch site.

The Bay St. Louis City Council is considering joining a regional crime unit which allows for combination of investigative services among Hancock, Harrison and Stone counties.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor J. Frankiewicz Tuesday recommended the council sign an interlocal cooperation agreement to form this regional task force.

"Drug dealers don't stop at a county line and politely wait for someone to come and pick them up," he said.

The agreement will be among the Second Circuit Court District, the district attorney's office, the Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics and the cities of Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Pass Christian, Long Beach and Wiggins.

Frankiewicz said representatives of these areas had applied for a grant to form the task force several months ago with the Governor's Office of Federal and State Programs but the grant funds were awarded to a Harrison County group including Gulfport and Biloxi.

"Even though we didn't get the grant, members of the group who were trying to establish the task force felt strongly enough about it to try and put it together with their own resources," Frankiewicz said.

Hopefully later on the task force can secure grant money to expand the program, he added.

In the program each participating city or agency will assign personnel to temporary or full time duty with the task force on an as-needed basis, Frankiewicz said.

Each entity will continue to pay its own personnel while they are working with the task force, he added.

"Up front money if needed for drug buys will be provided by the Bureau of Narcotics," Frankiewicz said.

The task force will be headed by a governing board made up of representatives of each participating agency.

"I'm very happy that the district attorney's office is turning its attention to street level drug problems in municipalities," Frankiewicz said.

"Glen Cannon and his new staff are working hard to establish close working relationships with local law enforcement agencies," he continued.

"I believe working closely together will enable us to significantly improve the success rate in fighting crime," Frankiewicz said.

The council is expected to vote on joining the task force at its next meeting Feb. 2.

Testing of the three main engines which will power the Space Shuttle Discovery's flight this summer has been completed at National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County.

A fourth engine, which will serve as a spare for the flight, is currently installed on a test stand at NSTL awaiting its three-test acceptance series.

Mack Herring, National Aeronautics and Space Administration public affairs officer, said testing on the spare engine for the STS-26 will begin this weekend.

The three-series test begins with a 1.5-second ignition test and is followed by a 250-second test and a 520-second full mission duration test, Herring said.

Testing on the spare space shuttle main engine is expected to be completed in time for a mid-February delivery to Kennedy Space Center in Florida.

The third of three main engines was prepared for shipment to Kennedy Tuesday.

The 7,000 pound engine was placed in a protective canister for the 14-hour trip by truck to the Florida launch site.

The engine is scheduled to depart from NSTL at 2 a.m. Thursday morning and will arrive in Florida approximately 6 p.m.

All main engines which are to be used for Discovery's flight were successfully tested at NSTL.

Testing began on the first of the three engines in September. This engine has already been installed in the Discovery.

The other two main engines are expected to be installed Jan. 24.

Testing on the third main engine was completed in December.

STS-26 is scheduled for sometime from mid-July to mid-August.

Herring said testing of main engines for the next space shuttle mission STS-27 will begin soon.

STS-27 is scheduled for a few months following the Discovery mission this summer.

He also said basic construction work at test stand B-1 has been completed.

"This will give us three test positions for the space shuttle main engines," Herring added.

The first firing on this new test stand is scheduled for next month.

"This additional test stand will enable us to do even more testing and have a quicker turnaround on the engines," he said.

Now all three engines to be used on a space shuttle mission can be in various stages of acceptance testing at NSTL at one time, Herring said.

"There is really going to be a lot of activity at NSTL as the space shuttle program gets going again," he said.

ETV Brief

UNHERALDED ACTIVISTS

In the 1950s and '60s, America fought a "second revolution" to secure "inalienable rights" and equal treatment under the law—a revolution to make "liberty and justice for all" a reality for black Americans as well as white. The fight was waged in the streets, churches, courts and schools. It was a struggle for racial integration and equal rights that changed America forever.

"Eyes on the Prize," the six-part award-winning account of one of the greatest decades in our nation's history, focusing on unheralded activists who brought the movement to life, will be rebroadcast at 9 p.m., Mondays, beginning Jan. 25, on Mississippi ETV. It premiered last year on ETV.

From the Supreme Court decision on school desegregation to the triumphant Selma-Montgomery march and the signing of the Voting Rights Act, "Eyes on the Prize" highlights the ordinary citizens living in an extraordinary era, who participated in sit-ins, freedom rides, voter registration drives and became the victims of violence in order to turn the attention of a nation to what some believed was the final battle of the Civil War.

Raiders annihilate Riverside

The Coast Episcopal High School Raiders Basketball team evened their conference play to 2-2 behind season best efforts of guards Chris Riggs and Billy Guice.

Riggs and Guice scored 23 and 21 points respectively, to lead the Raiders to a 71 to 12 victory over Riverside Academy of New Orleans. Forward Todd Purcell contributed excellent defensive play and grabbed 13 rebounds. Chip Grant, Sterling Thibodeaux and Rusty Roper provided season best defensive play as the Raiders operated in a man to man defense during the second and third quarters.

Reserves Scott Covode and Hutson Lambert continued to display excellent improvement as both offensive and defensive players.

The Raiders' next home game will be against Word of Life Academy of Baton Rouge Friday and will be played at the Coast Episcopal High School gym on Espy Avenue in Pass Christian.

Tip-off time is 1 p.m. for the girls and 2 p.m. for the boys.

Coast Episcopal Girls take two

The Lady Raiders hosted Riverside Academy of New Orleans on Friday and coasted to an easy 30-12 victory.

On Saturday, The Lady Raiders travelled to Baton Rouge to play the Word of Life Eagles and came away with a 40-16 win.

Katherine Smith scored 12 points in the first game and 19 points on the road.

In addition she tallied 14 blocked shots, 18 rebounds and turned in a 'very strong' all-around game, according to Coach Cal Smith.

Following Smith in scoring was Melissa Catron with 10 and 6 points in each game.

The Lady Raiders seem to be headed for another conference championship the coach feels.

They can finish the season on Jan. 30, with an 8-2 season. The only two losses were to Liberty Christian of Pensacola, FL.

The remaining games are against Word of Life, home and away and Reserve Academy of Baton Rouge, Home and Away.

"The Lady Raiders have five graduating seniors this year and we are interested in talking to any student athletes who are interested in attending Coast Episcopal High School," Coach Smith said.

Next year the Raiders will join the Mississippi Private School Association which has an outstanding athletic program. In order to compete the Raiders hope to field teams that are very competitive in their first conference season, he pointed out.

MPSA will offer competition in volleyball, softball, soccer, football, basketball and track.

For additional information about the school and its athletic programs contact Coach Calvin R. Smith at (601) 467-0470.

BAYS Under-10 Girls win in Gulfport

The Magnolia's, sponsored by the Krewe of Magnolia's, defeated the Gulfport Showgirls 6-0 in a soccer match between the two teams at Milner Stadium.

Nicole Krost led the attack by scoring three goals in the first half and one in the second, from a defensive position.

Rachael Perniciaro scored the first goal of the game early in the first quarter.

Gwen Krost, while playing against a stingy defense the first half, scored a goal in the second half from an offensive position.

"Good ball control and aggressive play was shown by these girls and offensive players Ovidia Parker, Jennifer Storey, and Amber Vidal," according to Coach Jeff Debenport.

The Showgirls were held scoreless by a defense that did not allow the ball in their half of the field long enough for the Showgirls to set up any offensive showing.

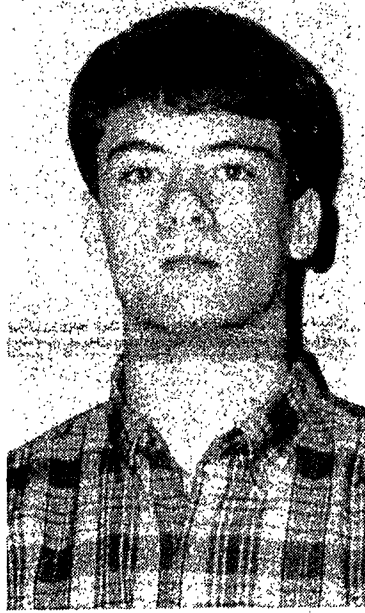

The goal keeper position was shared by Alisia Gavagnie and Jennifer Storey.

"Kathryn Scafile did a terrific job holding down the sweeper position while Dannette Fredrick sent the ball to the other end of the field any time it got close to her position, the coach reported.

Debenport said that "hard work at practices and good team play is how the Magnolia's won this match."

All Gulf States Conference football team first string offense senior Chris Riggs is from Coast Episcopal High School

All Gulf States Conference football team first string defense sophomore Scott Covode is from Coast Episcopal High School

Coast Episcopal High places seven on All-Conference teams

Coast Episcopal seniors Jose DaSilva and Walter Rode received honorable mention on the All Conference Gulf States Conference Teams.

Dauphin Island chairman named

Fairhope Yacht Club has announced the appointment of Bob Mace as general chairman of the 30th Annual Dauphin Island Race to be held April 16.

The announcement was made by Dan Hamilton, commodore, who stated that a sailing race of this magnitude requires careful planning, extensive arrangements and an early start.

Bob Mace is a past commodore, Fairhope Yacht Club, presently club representative to the Gulf Yachting Association, and an experienced sailor. He will be directing the Dauphin Island Warm Up Race, April 9, the Dauphin Island Return Race, April 17 and the Dauphin Island Race.

Mace listed the following committee appointments—Rues, Percy Perkins; Ratings, Bill Abel; Race, Charles Dees; Registration, Neil Dickey; Finance, Bob Henderson; Awards and Trophies, Milner Dent; Dauphin Island Site, Buck Monroe; Advertising, Joe East; Poster, Doreen Sorrells; Harbor, Bill Sheridan; Publicity, Jerry Comer.

Over 400 boats are expected for the Dauphin Island Race. Boats are expected from Panama City, F. Walton, Pensacola, Mobile, Pascagoula, Gulfport, Bay St. Louis and New Orleans. The Dauphin Island Race is the nations third largest single day sailing race.

DEEP SOUTH ALL-CONFERENCE—Bay Senior High School All-Conference football players who were selected by the coaching staff for their hard work and contributions to the squad during the 1987-1988 season include, top from left, Andrew Collins, Douglas Rhodes, and bottom, quarterback Chad Lafontaine and Dante Curry. Jerry Island is not pictured. Bay High Tigers will conduct spring training for football Feb. 8 through March 4, closing with an inter-squad game.

The Greatest Running Back

Recently I was interviewed by Frank Gifford during the halftime of a Monday Night Football broadcast. We talked about great running backs and I gave my opinion that the top running back of all time was Jim Brown.

Fans love to debate who was the greatest player at each position. Naturally I've heard from some who would pick Tony Dorsett, O.J. Simpson, Walter Payton, or any one of several other fine running backs over Jim Brown.

It was a reminder to me that a lot of people just don't remember Jim Brown. If you are 30 years old today, Jim Brown quit playing when you were ten. Another factor is that because of expansion to new cities and increased television coverage, the National Football League has attracted many new fans who never saw Jim during his great years with the Cleveland Browns.

When you consider the conditions Jim played under, his records are even more phenomenal. He played in an era where the defense's primary purpose was to stop the run first and the pass second. Today, it's the other way around and that helps the running back.

When Jim took a handoff, he was likely playing on a frozen or muddy field. There were no domed stadiums or artificial turf fields back in the 1950s and 1960s. I feel the good track artificial turf provides adds 25 to 50 yards per game to a great running back's total.

Back then the hash marks were out where the college hash marks are today. Officials spotted the ball on the hash marks and there was always a short side of the field. Defense slanted to the wide side. You simply didn't run to the short side because the sideline is the best tackler a defense has going for it.

Jim ran from a split backfield where he started from about three yards behind the line of scrimmage. He didn't have the luxury of starting from seven yards deep, as in the "I" formation, and the advantage that gives you in picking your holes. And, of course, he played when the NFL season was just 12 games.

Even with those disadvantages, Jim set records that lasted for nearly two decades. He was that rare player who combined all the talents desired in a running back. He had moves and speed, and he also had the power to run over defenders.

Of today's running backs, I would choose Eric Dickerson of the Indianapolis Colts as the best of those still at the top of their game. Walter Payton of the Bears will be retiring this year after a great career, and Tony Dorsett has had many fine years with Dallas. But there's no doubt in my mind that Jim Brown was the greatest of all time. ll

Gale Sayers is considered one of the greatest running backs of all time. The former Chicago Bear is a member of the National Football League's Hall of Fame.

USM baseball schedule announced

HATTIESBURG—Home games with NCAA regional participants Florida State, Tulane, South Alabama and the University of New Orleans highlight a 62-game baseball schedule released by University of Southern Mississippi athletic director Bill McLellan and head baseball coach Hill Denson.

The Golden Eagles open the season at home on Feb. 13 against Northeast Louisiana and close the regular season May 15 at South Alabama.

In between, the eagles will play 40 games at home at Pete Taylor Park including 25 night games. Lights currently are being added to Taylor Park.

In addition to home games with Florida State, Tulane, South Alabama and UNO, the Eagles will face Northeast Louisiana, Nicholls State, Mississippi College, Belhaven, Vanderbilt, Livingston, Bowling Green, Alcorn State, Arkansas-Little Rock, Mississippi Valley, Southeastern Louisiana, William Carey College, Jackson State, Central Florida, Alabama-Birmingham, and Memphis State.

The Eagles and Mississippi State will also play a single game at Jackson's Smith-Wills Stadium on Mar. 29.

USM's two game series at Pete Taylor Park on Apr. 30 and May 1 against William Carey College will mark the first time the two intra-city rivals have met on the baseball field since 1972, while Bowling Green and Central Florida will appear on USM's baseball schedule for the first time ever.

The schedule features 17 games against teams that played in the NCAA regionals last season and 55 games against Division I foes. Although the NCAA allows schools to play only 60 regular season games during the spring, the Eagles have overscheduled by two games anticipating rainouts during the season.

USM head coach Hill Denson, now entering his fifth season with the Eagles, is looking forward to an exciting year. "It's probably as tough a schedule as we have ever faced," he said. "I would think it would be rated in the top 10 or 15 in the country. Our players and coaches are continuing to work hard during the off season to be ready and we feel the 1988 season will be an exciting one."

The complete schedule follows:

February
13-Northeast La., home; 14-Northeast La., home; 16-Nicholls State, home; 17-Nicholls State, home; 20-at Northeast La.; 21-at Northeast La.; 23-Mississippi College, home; 24-Mississippi College, home; 26-at Florida State; 27-at Florida State; 28-at Florida State.

March
2-at Jackson State; 3-Belhaven, home; 4-Belhaven, home; 8-at Arkansas-Little Rock; 9-at Arkansas-Little Rock; 11-Vanderbilt, home; 12-Vanderbilt, home; 13-at New Orleans; 15-Livingston, home; 16-Livingston, home; 18-Florida State, home; 19-Florida State, home; 20-Florida State; 22-

Bowling Green, home; 23-Bowling Green, home; 24-Bowling Green, home; 26-at South Carolina; 27-at South Carolina; 29-Mississippi State in Jackson, Miss.; 30-at Alcorn.

April
2-Memphis State, home; 3-Memphis State, home; 4-at Tulane; 5-at Southeastern Louisiana; 6-at Southeastern Louisiana; 7-Alcorn, home; 9-at Memphis State; 10-at Memphis State; 13-at Mississippi State; 14-at Mississippi State; 16-Arkansas-Little Rock, home; 19-Arkansas-Little Rock, home; 19-Mississippi Valley, home; 20-Mississippi Valley, home; 23-Tulane, home; 24-Tulane, home; 26-Southeastern Louisiana, home; 27-Southeastern Louisiana, home; 28-New Orleans, home; 30-William Carey College, home.

May
1-William Carey College, home; 3-

Jackson State, home; 6-Central Florida, home; 7-Central Florida, home; 8-Central Florida, home; 10-Alabama-Birmingham, home; 11-Alabama-Birmingham, home; 12-South Alabama, home; 14-at South Alabama; 15-at South Alabama; 18-22-Metro Conference Tournament in Tallahassee, Fla.

USM baseball season tickets are now available through the Golden Eagle ticket office. A regular season ticket is $60, but a $30 season ticket can be purchased by senior citizens (65 years and older), students high school age and under and by USM faculty and staff. Faculty and staff members who purchase season tickets must present an ID at the gate in addition to their season ticket to gain admission. USM students will be admitted free to all home games by presenting a valid ID card.

UNO to conduct flag football league

A Sunday morning Flag Football League will be conducted during the spring, beginning Jan. 31, by the University of New Orleans department of recreation and intramural sports. The league will consist of men's and co-recreational teams.

Deadline for team registration is 4 p.m., Jan. 26. Play will be held on Sunday mornings with the championships scheduled for March 27.

No fewer than 40 teams are expected to compete each week, with excellent competition being offered, according to Alan Kohorst, associate director of the department.

For entry forms and additional information, contact Kohorst at 286-6357, or come to room 112 of the UNO Health and Physical Education Center.

Red Man Bass opener Slated for Ross Barnett

GILBERTSVILLE, KY.—Operation Bass will conduct the first Red Man bass fishing tournament of the Mississippi Division, Feb. 14 on Ross Barnett at Tommy's Trading Post, signaling the start of the six-event Mississippi Division Red Man season.

Entry deadline for the event is Feb. 3. All entries must be postmarked on or before that date.

Five other Operation Bass-managed Red Man events will make up the Mississippi Division venue for 1988 as follows: March 27, Pickwick/Pickwick Landing State Park, entry deadline March 16; May 15, Tombigbee/Columbus Ramp, entry deadline May 4; June 5, Sardis/Engineers Point, entry deadline May 25; Aug. 14, Mississippi River/Ferguson-City Landing, entry deadline Aug. 3; and Sept. 11, Ross Barnett 2/Tommy's Trading Post, entry deadline Aug. 31.

The top 24 fishermen in the Mississippi Division after the six qualifying events will advance to one of four Regional Classics where they will compete with 96 other "working" men and women anglers for a $35,000 "Dream" bass fishing rig consisting of a Chevrolet pickup and a fully-rigged Ranger boat and $15,000 in cash.

The top 10 from each of the four Regionals will advance to the prestigious Red Man All-American where the winner will be awarded $100,000; the largest cash prize of any no-entry-fee event in sport-fishing.

Operation Bass sponsors for 1988 include: Red Man chewing tobacco, Ranger Boats, Chevrolet trucks, DuPont Stren line, Evinrude and Johnson outboards and electrics, GNB, Inc., Ryobi reels, Pennzoil outboard lubricant, Techsonic (Humminbird electronics), Brown-ing rods, Igloo coolers, Armour Vienna sausage, Sears and Poe's lures.

CAR OF THE YEAR—Pontiac Division this week received the Motor Trend Car of the Year award for its 1988 Grand Prix SE. The announcement was made at the Waldorf Astoria in New York City as part of the opening ceremonies of General Motors' "GM Technology and Teamwork" exposition. The award was presented by Petersen Publishing Company Senior Vice President Robert E. Brown. "This is the fifth time that Pontiac has won the Car of the Year award," said J. Michael Losh, Pontiac general manager and a GM vice president upon receipt of the symbolic trophy. For our first award in 1959, Motor Trend described the "wide track" Pontiac as being the "best combination of handling, ride, performance and styling of any 1959 car." Now 29 years later in 1988, the Grand Prix SE continues that winning tradition. Losh said the prices for the 1988 Grand Prix available in three models, start at $12,539, with the Grand Prix LE priced at $13,239 and the Grand Prix SE at $15,249.

TRAGEDY ON THE LITTLE NOXUBEE

It was a hot Sunday afternoon, Aug. 16, 1987—a date that a lot of rural folks in Winston County will never forget—when tragedy visited a locally popular swimming hole on Little Noxubee Creek.

But tragedy there that day had other callers too—such as alertness, valor, and steadfastness among the dozen young people who had gathered around the cable they used to swing out over the stream and drop off over a deep water area and swim out of the cool waters with the exhilaration that comes with this summer recreational activity enjoyed along the courses of rural streams.

John Wallace, a Mississippi State University sophomore, sat on the bank as his girl friend Wendy Miles decided to swing out and drop-off. Nearby, Chris Beasley, age 22, suddenly dove into the stream so he would be nearby when she came up.

But tragedy entered the stream with Chris. He struck the bottom, fracturing the fifth vertebrae in his neck. He popped to the surface, slung his head around to clear his face and eyes of water, exclaimed something that those on the bank did not understand, and immediately went under the water's surface again.

His next recollection was lying on the stream's bottom needing to get to the surface for air, but being unable to move. Then, his memory of the accident ends.

But on the bank his good lifelong friends—John Wallace and Alan Higgason—and the others, smiled at the bubbles and warned everybody in the water to watch out for Chris who enjoyed swimming underwater and playing water games.

Suddenly John's amusement changed to concern. More bubbles floated to the surface at the same spot. Chris had used up his staying-under-water time.

John sounded the alarm and another swimmer nearby, Shawn Edwards, went down and brought Chris up from the bottom. The young men got him up on the bank and found him to be lifeless. No breathing. No pulse. His color had changed.

John quickly remembered basic things he had learned at a Youth Safety Seminar at Roosevelt State Park a few years earlier. Alan too had received training at school in life saving techniques.

After employing procedures for emptying the victim's lungs of water, they began mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to restore breathing and CPR to restore the heartbeat.

For an agonizing 20 minutes, more or less, the pair worked on their friend—twice restoring breathing only to have it stop again. They had sent others to telephone for an ambulance as they worked. By the time the ambulance with its paramedics arrived at the secluded walk-in swimming area, Chris was living again, but John scraped at his feet with twigs and feeling was not there.

Before the traumatic incident at Little Noxubee was over, the boys and the paramedics had put Chris on a stretcher and walked out with him and hastened him to the hospital in Louisville.

A helicopter then flew him to University hospital in Jackson, where the extent of his injuries was checked and treatment began.

Since that fateful day John and Alan have visited their friend several times and seen him fight off double pneumonia and a dangerously high fever—and thank them for saving his life.

Last week this writer visited Winston County and talked with John and the parents of both of the young men whose efforts saved Chris' life. I visited University medical center and talked with Chris' mother and young wife Beth who had given birth to their first child only two weeks before the accident.

Those closest to the situation know Chris Beasley is a fighter and a very strong person. In the three weeks following the accident they have seen some feeling return to his body and upper legs. He has used his arms. He has put leg pressure on a footboard. And he has told his family with a firm resolve that he will walk out of the hospital. They read his lips as he speaks despite tubes in his mouth.

The story of Chris Beasley continues. In Louisville a fund for assisting him has been started as he had no insurance to cover his medical expenses although he had put aside money to pay for the expenses of the birth of his young daughter.

Persons desiring to help Chris and Beth Beasley through their tragedy may send checks or funds to them through the Winston County Farm Bureau, P.O. Box 231, Louisville, MS 39339.

The Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, which sponsors the life saving programs at seminars and schools over Mississippi, is nominating the two young cousins, John Wallace and Alan Higgason, for the federaton's Rural Life Saver Award which recognizes people who have taken the Farm Bureau training and saved a life as a result of the training.

Meanwhile in Jackson, the mother and wife of Chris remain close by this young Mississippi man whose determination to recover brings a hopeful glow to the countenances of these two ladies during their around-the-clock vigil.

JUNK FOODS

Savory cones. Crack a Snack. Ever wonder how a fast food is invented? ETV viewers will find out when "NOVA" explores the making of a new snack in "How to Create a Junk Food."

Julia Child introduces this behind-the-scenes look at the billion-dollar snack food industry when "NOVA" airs at 8 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 26.

"You don't just think or a clever technical idea and then try and persuade people to buy it," says food designer Peter Sampson.

The public prefers foods that are crisp, moist, savory, nutritious, filing and easy to eat.

"How to Create a Junk Food" follows Sampson as he attempts to invent the perfect snack from the first crunch to the pleasantly faint aftertaste on Mississippi ETV.

SLEEPING MURDER

Agatha Christie's elderly spinster detective, Miss Jane Marple, must interpret a young woman's nightmare in order to catch a killer when ETV's "Mystery" presents Joan Hickson in "The Sleeping Murder."

The two-part "Mystery" begins at 8 p.m., Sunday, Jan. 24, on Mississippi ETV.

Coast Raiders debut in soccer with a 4-3 away game victory

Coast Episcopal High School opened its first season of soccer with a 4 to 3 victory over All Saints Academy in a Thursday game in Vicksburg.

After a scoreless first half, All Saints opened a 2-0 lead before Billy Guice, on a crossing pass from his brother, Nathan Guice, scored the first of what was to become a "hat trick" three goals in the game.

All Saints quickly scored again but, with a 3-1 advantage, they were unable to prevent the Raiders' forward press of Billy Guice and Chris Riggs from scoring at will late in the game.

Riggs scored to tie the game at 3-3 on a dribble and head-on shot while Billy Guice scored on an outlet pass for Riggs with less than a minute remaining. The final score was 4-3.

Members of the first string of the Coast Episcopal High School soccer team are seniors Rusty Roper, Todd Purcell and Chris Riggs, juniors Sterling Thibodeaux, Rea Montjoy, Chip Grant and Justin Taylor, sophomores Hutson Lambert, Scott Covode, Billy Guice and Scott Hourin, and seventh grader Nathan Guice.

Other members of the team are seniors Jose Da Silva and Jamie Ladner, and seventh graders Ian Willis, Mark Catron, Eric Williams and George Hlass.

The next home game will be Jan. 23 at Coast Episcopal High School on Espy Avenue in Pass Christian.

Delta State alums to host golf tourney

CLEVELAND—The first Delta State University Alumni Golf Tournament will be held at Belwood Country Club in Natchez Feb. 20, according to Joseph R. Guice of Natchez, tournament chairman.

The four-person scramble will have tee times of 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., and thousands of dollars in prizes will be awarded, Guice said. Sponsored by the Southwest Mississippi chapter of the DSU Alumni Association, the tournament is open to all interested golfers.

"We are offering five tournament packages that will afford participants an opportunity to take part in a variety of activities, including two nights at the historic Eola Hotel, free tours of antebellum homes in Natchez, a romantic carriage ride in historic downtown Natchez, a tennis scramble, and a dance at the Eola," Guice said.

"Participants may tailor a package to suit their wishes, including non-golfers who want to take part in the other activities," he added.

"The goal of the tournament is to have fun and benefit Delta State University at the same time," Guice said. "We invite all golfers to take part, male and female, high and low handicappers. Since it's a scramble, even duffers have a chance to win the top prize."

Persons interested in information may contact Guice at 442-5493 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., or they may contact the Delta State University Alumni Association at 864-4660.

Bananas, we are told, were tantalizing palates as far back as three centuries B.C., and were cultivated on plantations in the New World in the 1670's, long after their discovery along the Indus River in Southern Asia.

Bananas were for a time a quite expensive delicacy in our country until they turned into an affordable staple shortly after the turn of the century, when companies began shipping bananas from Latin America on refrigerated produce ships.

One of the mainstays of the diet in the West Indies, as well as in Central America and South America and the Pacific Islands and central Africa, to name a few areas, bananas brighten up any menu, don't they?

And, from simply a banana eaten out of hand to luscious desserts, with so many variations along the way. There's banana bread and banana pudding or pie, and fritters and banana splits and so forth. But don't save the bananas just for desserts, or you'll miss a real taste treat. Bananas may be made into excellent "side dishes" or accompaniments to chicken or ham or seafood and so on. Among my favorites are:

HOT PEPPER BANANAS

6 bananas
4 Tblsp. butter or margarine
3 Tblsp. lime or lemon juice
Generous splashes of hot pepper sauce
Freshly ground black pepper
3 Tblsp. brandy (optional)
Peel the bananas, of course, and cut diagonally into two-inch-thick slices. Melt the butter in a skillet, add the bananas and lime or lemon juice, then the black pepper and hot pepper sauce, stirring gently to blend together.

Heat just until the bananas are heated, then turn the mixture into a chafing dish or other serving dish, and serve with broiled or baked ham or chicken or pork, and so forth.

And, if you're giving the added touch of flaming to the service, when you remove the bananas from the skillet, turn into a chafing dish or flame-proof serving dish, and heat the brandy in a small saucepan, just until you see it making waves. Strike a match to it, and, as it ignites and flames, pour the brandy over the bananas, and stir ever so gently—showy and simple to do!

Public officials conference is scheduled

Local public officials from across the Fifth Mississippi Congressional District have been invited to attend a Public Officials Conference sponsored by the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency (MEMA) to discuss emergency management/civil defense issues in their jurisdiction and also to review wide-ranging chemical emergency regulations now mandated by federal law, according to MEMA Director J.E. Maher.

Media are encouraged to attend the Conference, and state officials will be available for interviews. The time, date and location of the Conference in the Fifth Mississippi Congressional District are: 9 a.m. to Noon, Jan. 21, Jackie Dole Sherrill Community Center, 220 West Front Street, Hattiesburg, Mississippi.

"Emergency management—and civil defense in areas where the name has not been changed—has become a sophisticated system of planning, preparedness, response and recovery from every natural and man-made disaster that we encounter. We don't just plan for the 'Big Bomb' any longer because there are so many more disasters that affect us on a much more frequent basis," Maher said.

It is crucial that local governments understand the system because of the large stake they have in funding and maintaining an effective emergency management/civil defense program, he added.

"A good example of the degree of sophistication needed in emergency management civil defense programs is the new chemical emergency program that was written into federal law after the chemical tragedy in Bhopal, India. Title III of the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986 (SARA)

Pass school election qualifying date nears

The qualifying deadline for anyone who wishes to run in the March 5 Pass Christian School Board election is Jan. 25.

The election is being conducted to fill a five-year term on the board.

Candidates must be registered voters and residents of the school district's added territory, which is outside the Pass Christian corporate city limits.

To qualify, a candidate must also file a petition signed by at least 25 voters in the added territory, as well as an affidavit stating the individual's qualifications, with the district's superintendent of education.

Petitions and copies of the Mississippi school board election laws may be picked up in the superintendent's office at 701 W. North St., Pass Christian.

CHAMBERGRAM

MORNING COFFEE

Dr. Jim W. Meredith, director of the Mississippi Research and Development Center, will be the featured speaker at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition Coffee, scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 28, beginning at 7:30 a.m. at Scaffidi's Wheel Inn Restaurant, Bay St. Louis. This will be the third seminar in a series the Chamber has been offering on the value of economic development in Hancock County.

Meredith, who has served as director of the Mississippi R & D Center since 1981, will discuss the assets Hancock County has to offer in the area of attracting high tech as well as industrial, prospects.

Chamber members and their guests are urged to attend this Morning Edition Coffee, and further information is available by calling the office at 467-9048.

WAL-MART NAMES

Harold West Contractors of Laurel has been named general contractor for the company's newest project, a $65,930 square foot Wal-Mart store to be located in a proposed shopping center on US-90 and Hwy. 603 in Waveland.

Construction on the project is scheduled to begin in early 1988 and Wal-Mart officials estimate that the store should be completed and ready for a summer of 1988 opening.

Approximately 120 jobs are expected to be created as a result of the store's opening. Prior to the opening, interview dates and locations will be announced in local classified sections for anyone interested in employment with Wal-Mart. There are presently over 180,000 Wal-Mart associates throughout the company's 1114 store, 23-state trade territory, and approximately 140 stores are scheduled to open during 1988.

CHAMBER BANQUET

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet was a true success, and we would like to thank all who attended for their support, not only at the banquet, but throughout the year.

A special thanks to Jerry Hlass, NSTL Director, for his keynote address that detailed the current status of the space program and NASA's future plans for the area.

The accommodations and the food were superb, and we send a special note of appreciation to the crew at the Diamondhead Country Club.

And, last but not least, thank you to 1987 Chamber president Herb Dubuison for the fine job he did leading the Chamber during the year.

BUSINESS SEMINARS

Joycelyn Stabler, a consultant with Group Performance Processes, will begin a series of Lunchtime Business Seminars, sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

The seminars, set for The Landmark Restaurant, will begin on Friday, Jan. 29, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., and run consecutive Fridays until March 4. There is no cost to those attending, except if you choose to have lunch dutch-treat.

The first topic to be discussed will be Techniques for Problem Solving and Decision Making. Future topics will include Quality Circles - employee involvement in decision making, Leadership, Performance Measurement, Self-Image Professional Image and Motivation.

Further information is available by calling the Chamber office at 467-9048.

NEW MEMBERS

President Rick Eagan welcomes the following new members to the Chamber: Kiddie Cottage, Inc. - Mary Perkins; Cynosure Magazine - Henry Twigg; Gulf Coast Security Service - Earl "Buck" Ladner; and Charta, Inc. - John Murchison.

CRIMESTOPPERS MONTH

This month has been designated as Crimestoppers Month on a nationwide basis, and the Hancock County Board of Supervisors has also designated this as Crimestoppers Month in Hancock County.

Crimestoppers is an organization that accepts tips on solving crimes and keeps the information confidential and rewards the tipper up to $1,000. Callers do not have to give their name, but may give information on any serious crime, the location of stolen property, the location of wanted persons or the location of illegal drugs.

The organization operates on funds received from governmental bodies, in addition to corporate and business gifts. Persons interested in donating to the fund may send their check to the Chamber office.

To contact Crimestoppers, call 1-800-433-TIPS.

NEW YEAR THANKS

A deep and heartfelt thank you go to both Ellis Cuevas of The Sea Coast Echo, and Edith Back, The Sun-Herald, for the wonderful job they did last year and always do promoting the efforts of the Chamber and its projects. We appreciate both of them and look forward to working with them again this year.

Sixth Conservation Signup slated

The sixth Conservation Reserve Signup is scheduled for the period of Feb. 1-19.

Two requirement changes have been made to enhance tree planting through the Conservation Reserve Program.

The average annual erosion rate requirement has been lowered from three to two tons per acre for tree planting. The percentage of the field which is highly erodible land has been reduced from 66 2/3 to 33 1/3 percent if the landowner agrees to plant trees.

This rule change will make field predominance for CRP tree planting consistent with Conservation Compliance which also requires 33 1/3 percent of the field to be highly erodible.

Hence, this rule change not only increases CRP tree planting, but helps many farmers achieve Conservation Compliance as well.

These requirement changes will provide eligibility to some fields which were previously ineligible.

For more information concerning the Conservation Reserve Program, contact the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service or the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

It's King Cake Time at Tastee

History of the King Cake

In European countries, the coming of the wisemen bearing gifts to the Christ Child is celebrated twelve days after Christmas. The celebration, called Epiphany, Little Christmas or the Twelfth Night, is a time of exchanging gifts and feasting.

All over the world people gather for festive Twelfth Night celebrations. One of the most popular customs is still the baking of a special cake in honor of the three kings... "A King's Cake."

The Europeans hide a bean inside their cake and the person receiving the bean must portray one of the kings. Latin-American people put a small figure inside the cake representing the Christ Child. It is said that a year of good fortune awaits the lucky person who gets the figure.

Louisianians like the idea of perpetuating the celebration by having the person who received the baby continue the festivities and another party and another cake. Starting the twelfth day after Christmas, King cake parties continue until the first day of Lent, ending on Fat Tuesday, Mardi Gras! King Cakes were originally a simple ring of dough with little decorations. The New Orleans style King Cake is brightly decorated with Mardi Gras colored sugars and pieces of fruit.

Thousands of King Cakes are consumed at parties every year in the Crescent City making the King Cake another "fine Louisiana tradition."

Agriculture turns a corner

Many state farmers realize profit in '87

In rural areas of Mississippi, smiles and sparkles in the eyes are often replacing the look of frustration on the faces of many farmers. Agriculture may have turned a corner.

"1987 was the turning point for Mississippi farm families," said Dr. James R. Carpenter, director of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "The trend of declining farm profits has reversed; most farmers made a profit in 1987."

The state farm leader said the turnaround came about because of sharply higher crop yields; higher prices for most farm products and very little increase in farm production costs.

"The total value of farm production increased sharply in 1987, to $3.03 billion, a $400 million increase above 1986," Carpenter said. "Net farm income increased $200 million above last year to $560 million."

These figures represent the second highest value of farm production ever recorded in the state and the fourth largest net farm income.

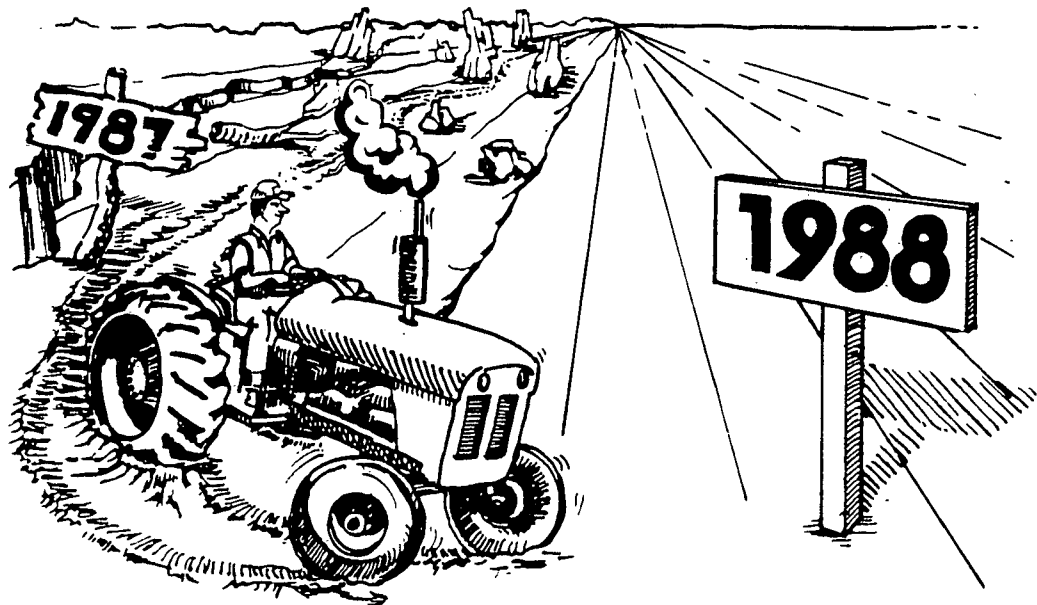

"I believe the decade of the '80s, typified by depressed farm prices, has come to an end," Carpenter said. "The rest of the decade should be much more prosperous for Mississippi farmers."

Carpenter said those farmers left on Mississippi farms have become more efficient producers, are much more cost conscious and much better at marketing their farm products.

"1988 could be a banner year in Mississippi agriculture," he said. "Declining stocks should mean better prices and we should continue to see an increase in farm exports. Too, production costs are expected to increase very little next year."

The farm leader was cautious in areas where increased expansion, like in the state's pork enterprise, could cause the enterprise to suffer because of lower prices.

"While the picture in agriculture is much brighter, agriculture is still a long way from where it should be," Carpenter said. "Farmers still face stiff competition from around the world; many farmers still have large farm debts and farm land prices are very low."

In Mississippi

Food grain crops up; wheat leads

Total food grain production in Mississippi increased in 1987, even though the rice crop was smaller than in 1986.

The big increase in food grains was in wheat production where acreages almost doubled in the state, according to Dr. O.A. Cleveland, an economist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"Rice acreage held steady at about 198,000 acres, but yields dropped two bushels to 118 bushels per acre," Cleveland said. "Acreage of wheat harvested increased from 200,000 to 350,000 and yields were up five bushels per acre to an average of 36."

The farm value of food grains in the state this year was $173 million. Cleveland said the outlook for food grains is improving, and prospects for higher prices and smaller stocks of wheat and rice could make 1988 a better year for producers.

"Global rice production in 1987-88 is down more than 5 percent from last season because of inadequate monsoon rains throughout most of South and Southeast Asia," Cleveland said. "With the exception of India, most of these countries must turn to the relatively small world market to, at least partially offset their own production shortfalls."

Cleveland said the wheat outlook is improved with reduced production, a continued recovery in world trade, a gain in U.S. market share and declining world stocks.

"Global wheat production in 1987-88 is below consumption for the first time since 1980-81, world trade is expanding and our ending stocks are the lowest since 1984-85," the economist said. "There is a shift toward a better balance between supply and demand."

25 percent increase

Farmscene brightened by catfish

Farm-raised catfish continued to expand in 1987 in both value and production.

Production increased about 25 percent, pushing total acres to about 90,000.

"Prices were down 5 cents per pound in 1987 to 62 cents," said Dr.

Bob Martin, a catfish economist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "However, the sharp increase in production pushed the value of the enterprise up $32 million to a total value of production of $242 million."

Martin said the outlook for catfish also continues favorable.

"Additional resources are being used to find and develop new markets," he said. "This should allow the enterprise to continue at a profitable level, even though feed prices are expected to increase."

THURSDAY, JANUARY 21, 1988-1C

FRANK KERBLE of St. Alphonsus School in Ocean Springs, watches as artist Libby Beasnett applies paint to his design for relief print making.

KERR GRABOWSKI watches as John Stewart of St. Clare Elementary in Waveland spreads the paint for his silk screen print.

MRS. WILLIAM BRAUN, chairman of the CES art contest, presents Courtney Clifton, whose winning entry was selected for a permanent collection of children's art on the Gulf Coast, with a certificate and a savings bond.

Artists conduct workshops for student contest winners

First through third place winners of the art contest "The Gulf Coast—Do You See What I See?" sponsored by the PTO of Coast Episcopal Schools and Pepsi Cola, participated in two workshops held recently at Coast Episcopal High School in Pass Christian.

Area artists donated their time to work with the winners and give the children an opportunity for hands-on experience in a variety of mediums.

Participating artists at the Nov. 7 workshop were Libby Beasnett of Gulfport, relief print-making; Jean Hammett of Pass Christian, water colors; Joey Rice of Ocean Springs, mixed media; and Kerr Grabowski of Pass Christian, silk screen.

The second workshop was held Nov. 21 and featured J. J. Foley of Long Beach, pastels with house paint; Vicki Lever of Pass Christian, paper-making collage; Terry O'Dell of Biloxi, sculpture; and Nancy Rupp of Bay St. Louis, oriental brush painting. Kat Fitzpatrick was the artist coordinator for this event.

Twenty-two schools participated in the art contest and 52 winners attended the workshops.

"The contest, held in conjunction with the Coast Episcopal Schools Toast to the Coast, will become an annual event and will hopefully involve every elementary school on the Coast next year," said chairman Isleta Braun. At the workshops, lunch was provided by Domino's Pizza Hut and Pepsi.

JOHN STEWART of St. Clare Elementary creates a fish sculpture from clay. Artist Terry O'Dell's cat sculpture watches.

PHILLIP SPINKS of CES works on his design for relief print making.

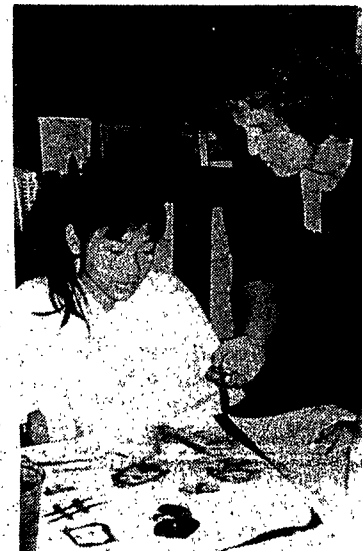

BAY CATHOLIC students John Bezou and Kathryn Edwards pull the paint for their silk screen print with help from artist Kerr Grabowski.

ARTISTS PARTICIPATING in the CES art workshops include, from left, Joey Rice of Ocean Springs, mixed media; Kerr Grabowski of Pass Christian, silk screen; Jean Hammett of Pass Christian, water colors; and Libby Beasnett of Gulfport, relief print-making.

NANCY RUPP talks with Kim Pham from Harper McCaughn Elementary in Long Beach about her practice strokes for oriental brush painting.

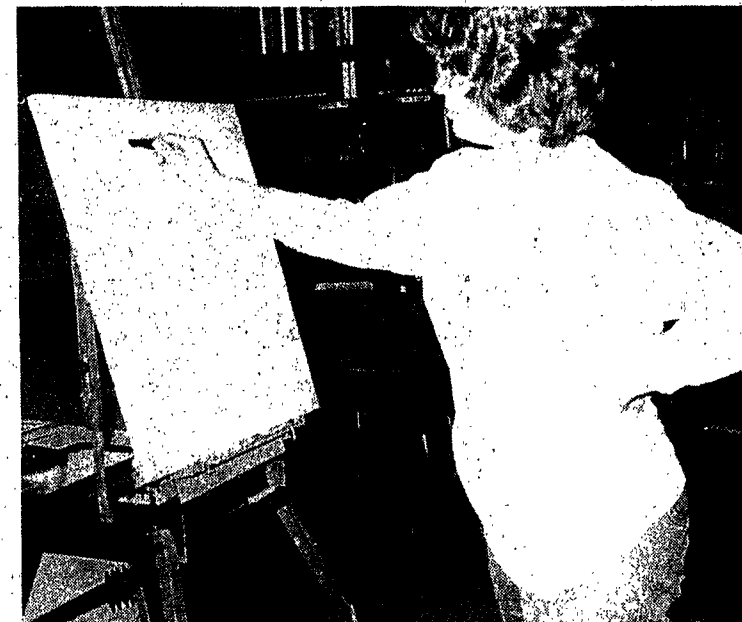

VICKI LEVER of Pass Christian taught paper making.

JOIDA EVANS, art teacher at Coast Episcopal Elementary School identifies examples of the work created by students at the CES art workshops.

CAITLIN CROUNSE of Long Beach, a student at Westminster Academy, works with pastels and housepaint at the CES art workshop.

ARTIST J. J. FOLEY, who works with pastels and house paints opens the art workshop at CES with a demonstration.

Campaigning for office of secretary, Erin O'Brien pins her motto on Danny Moore.

The first step in the election of a Student Council is voter registration. Jeremy Penton, fourth grader, fills out his voter registration form.

St. Stanislaus to present College Financial Aid workshop

On Sunday, Jan. 24, St. Stanislaus will hold its Open Classroom to give parents a chance to talk to the teachers following the first semester exams.

In conjunction with this Open Classroom the parents and students are invited to attend a financial aid workshop for college expenses to be held in the school's audio visual room at 1:30 p.m. The program will be repeated at 2:30 p.m.

The presenter will be Vernetta Fairley, a college director of financial aid with sixteen years experience. Mr. Fairley is also president of the college financial officers in the southeast region of the United States, which covers twelve states. This workshop is open to all parents and students in the area regardless of high school affiliation.

Parents of students in grades seven through ten are invited to a seminar to explain the standardized test results of the S.R.A. Multilevel Achievement Series and the National Educational Development Test, which were taken by the students in October. Mr. James Thriffley and Brother John Abate will be the presenters for this seminar, which will take place at 4:00 p.m. in the audio visual room. Additional information regarding these programs may be obtained by contacting James Thriffley at St. Stanislaus.

St. Stanislaus plans reunion

The St. Stanislaus Alumni Association will hold its annual alumni reunion on Jan. 30.

This "alumni get-together" will take place at the Jefferson-Orleans in Metairie, La. starting at 7:30 p.m. Many of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart and faculty members who have taught at St. Stanislaus in the past will be in attendance.

This year the alumni association will honor five classes in particular—namely, those classes celebrating a ten-year period since their graduation (classes of '48, '58, '68, and '78) and the class celebrating their twenty-fifth year of graduation (class of 1963).

Certificates recognizing the time since their graduation will be given to those alumni of the "honor classes" who are in attendance.

This alumni reunion is open to all alumni of St. Stanislaus and their wives or dates. Reservations may be made in advance through the Alumni Office at St. Stanislaus.

THE TWO NORTH PSYCHIATRIC UNIT AT SLIDELL MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

PSYCHIATRIC TREATMENT IN A MEDICAL SETTING

The Two North Psychiatric Unit at Slidell Memorial Hospital offers a wide range of Psychiatric evaluation and treatment with the unmatched benefit of a hospital setting.

Acute Crisis Intervention.

Medical and psychiatric treatment work hand-in-hand at Two North. The unit is staffed with psychiatrists and nurses especially trained to handle acute psychiatric crises. The low patient-to-nurse ratio means patients get the individualized attention they need. Slidell Memorial Hospital's 24-hour Emergency Room can evaluate and admit patients undergoing psychiatric crisis at any time of the day or night, 365 days a year.

A Variety of Therapeutic Options.

Two North offers music therapy, occupational therapy, and medically-supervised physical exercise in the Sports Medicine Center to help patients improve all aspects of their lives.

A Complete treatment facility.

Two North offers both individual and group therapy in a medical setting for those patients who require both medical and psychiatric treatment.

For more information about Two North, ask your doctor or call us at 643-2200.

Rock Tracks

by Rob Ferrus

The new Aerosmith Scrapbook video (tapes in the attic, if you will), is 54 minutes of magical moments designed to delight fans of one of the world's premier rock bands. It documents the band's career which began on record with the release of the self-titled album Aerosmith, and featured the anthemic "Dream On." They followed with a collection of multi-platinum albums: Get Your Wings, Toys In The Attic, Rocks, Draw The Line, Bootleg, Night In The Ruts, Greatest Hits, Rock In A Hard Place, Done With Mirrors, Classics Live I, Classics Live II and their current LP Permanent Vacation. Not only was Aerosmith at the top of rock music throughout the 70's, they set down a brand of music which has been emulated by most of the 80's hard rock bands.

Scrapbook features clips from Aerosmith's legendary live performances: Silverdome, Pontiac, MI (1976); Cal Jam 2, Ontario Motor Speedway, CA (1978); Capital Center, Largo, MD (1978); and The Texas Jam, Cotton Bowl, TX (1987). A scrapbook, however, is not complete without special reminders of great times past. Aerosmith has personally contributed to these reminders by including their own home movies to make this Scrapbook more than just concert footage.

It is to their loyal fans that Aerosmith is most thankful — their followers — who have supported many great moments, contributed to their 20 million album sales, and attended over 1,000 concerts. For those of you who have not grown up listening to their music and are only familiar with Permanent Vacation, the Scrapbook video will provide you with a personal insight into the extraordinary and exciting history of one of the most compelling bands in rock 'n roll past, present and future.

Pepsi Cola Company. Students are selected on the basis of grade performance; effort, including attendance; people skills such as sportsmanship, cooperation, service; self-control, including discipline, respect, courtesy; and initiative indicated by class participation, involvement, generosity. SCIENCE SCREEN REPORT—Prior to the invention of the transistor in the 50's, computers were as big as rooms, filled with thousands of switches and hot glass valves...it looked as if they would never make it into the home marketplace. Now computers are constantly changing, making lives easier and work more efficient. This month's edition of the Science Screen Report, a monthly international film/video series presenting most recent development in science, medicine and engineering and donated each month to the schools of Bay St. Louis as a service by Alcan Cable, takes an exciting look at today's 4th generation computer, and reaches one step beyond into the 5th generation. Computers that grant nearly every wish you command.

Quiz Bowl program by defeating Ursuline Academy of New Orleans and Sacred Heart Academy of New Orleans. Their opponent in the third round will be Mandeville High School. Milham is the moderator for the Channel 12 Quiz Bowl program, and Hoke serves as faculty moderator of the varsity quiz bowl team at St. Stanislaus. (SSC photo)

PRC department art festival

The Pearl River Department of Fine Arts will present a month-long Fine Arts Festival during April. "The Festival, with the theme of "Arts at The River," is the first multi-discipline arts festival for Pearl River College," said Archie Rawls, department chairman.

"Arts at The River" will be a month-long presentation of artists and performances from three art disciplines.

The departments of Music, Theater, and Art will host both student and professional artists in concerts, theater productions, speakers and workshops, as well as on-campus and off-campus art shows.

The festival begins on March 29 with a theater production and ends April 30 with PRC hosting show choirs from around Mississippi.

"We are excited about the professionals who are coming to our campus," Rawls stated. "We are expecting to enhance cultural interest at PRC and the surrounding area through exposure to the arts."

Some of the specific events in which professional artists will appear are concert performances, art exhibits and speakers. Concerts, theater productions and art exhibits

Dean's concern: Too few students in agriculture

Continuing declines in agriculture college enrollments across the country is boosting concern that the nation will have enough farmers, researchers, teachers and agribusiness leaders to keep agriculture vibrant.

"We have just over 950 students in Mississippi State University's College of Agriculture and Home Economics, down from 2,690 the peak year of 1977," said Dr. Charles E. Lindley, dean of the college.

"The nation's agricultural industry offers about 60,000 new jobs annually, but we're graduating only about 35,000 of those."

Lindley is concerned that the declining enrollment will lead to a critical shortage of agriculturists.

"The depressed farm economy and slowdowns in farm-linked businesses are the primary factors that have influenced young men and women to shun enrollment in agricultural courses," Lindley said. Competition for graduates to fill positions in agriculture-related fields is "tremendous," Lindley finds. "We're paying graduates with doctorates $35,000 or so right out of college. But if we offer a student $6,500 or $7,000 to take a graduate assistantship, a chemical company may offer the same person $25,000 and some attractive fringe benefits and probably get that person."

Aggravating the situation is the fact that many professors got their doctoral degrees in the seven or eight years following the end of World War II, and are nearing retirement. Lindley asks, "Where are we to get replacements for them?"

A lagging farm economy largely caused the situation, and Lindley feels that the recent trend toward recovery will help encourage enrollments in agriculture. He points out that cotton, beef, and poultry are looking better in many states, and catfish continues to do well in Mississippi.

Miss chamber contest applicants sought

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is now seeking young ladies between the ages of 18 and 22 to enter the Miss Hancock County Chamber of Commerce contest.

Miss Hancock County Chamber of Commerce will represent the chamber at various functions throughout the year.

Phillips names students to private 'Who's Who'

Phillips Junior College has recognized students who have demonstrated academic excellence and scholastic aptitude by having their names included in the 1987 edition of 'Who's Who in Nationally Accredited Private Career Schools.'

Names and places of residences of these students include Charles should obtain an application from the chamber office on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis. It should be submitted with a $10 entrance fee and a 5 X 7 black and white photograph.

The deadline for receiving applications is Monday, February 1, at 5 p.m. The judges will make the decision by Friday, Feb. 5.

Further information is available by calling the chamber at 467-9048.

Convocation Jan. 27 to open year-long observance of UM's 140th anniversary

In 1848 The University of Mississippi held its first classes with a faculty of five and a student body of 80.

On Wednesday, Jan. 27, Ole Miss will begin a year-long celebration of its 140th anniversary with a convocation that will include a procession of the 430 Oxford campus faculty marching in full academic regalia with the 375 full-time faculty members of the Medical Center campus invited to participate as well.

The 9,272 Oxford campus students and the 1,412 enrolled at the University Medical Center in Jackson are invited to attend the 4 p.m. ceremonies in C. M. "Tad" Smith Coliseum. The event is open to the public, and it is hoped that many alumni and friends of the University will be on hand for the convocation and the reception that will follow.

The convocation program will include an address on "The Future of the University" by Dr. Ray Cleere, Mississippi's Commissioner for Higher Education and a 1962 graduate of the master's program at the Ole Miss School of Education. A history of Ole Miss will be presented by Dr. Davis Sansing, professor of history.

Alumni, students, faculty and staff will be represented at the convocation, which will be presided over by Chancellor R. Gerald Turner. This is the first of a number of special events planned throughout 1988 to mark the University's 140th anniversary.

Exceptional Children's Conference set Jan. 28-30

BILOXI—The annual conference of the Mississippi Council for Exceptional Children will be held Jan. 28-30 at Biloxi's Royal d'Iberville Hotel.

The theme of this year's conference will be, "Extending our Horizons: Planning for Change," according to Dr. Patti Buschner, conference director. Members of the Mississippi Reading Association also will participate in the conference.

"We believe that if children and youth are to truly be educated in the least restricted environment, then we, as the professionals providing services to these students, must collaborate and cooperate with each other," said Buschner, a project director for the University of Southern Mississippi's Department of Special Education.

Buschner, who holds a doctorate in special education, said the 1988 conference will feature topics of interest to school, and agency administrators, teachers and parents of children who are gifted or handicapped.

She said a registration fee of $15 would cover the cost of the three-day conference. A special Friday session at 4:45 p.m. will be held to discuss formation of a state chapter of the Division of Early Childhood.

For more information, contact Dr. Buschner at (601) 266-5135.

© 1987 by COTTER & COMPANY, CHICAGO IL 60614 100% Member-Owned Warehouse Distributors & Merchandisers
Because this is a syndicated publication prepared in advance by Cotter & Company for distribution by over 6,000 independently owned and operated retail store members, some merchandise illustrated may not be immediately available on demand. However, any item that's unavailable in this circular come unasssembled. Individual stores are not responsible for assembling merchandise unless stated. This circular must be prepared months in advance of the actual distribution period. At times, an advertised item may not be available because of sales above anticipated demand or because of circumstances beyond our control; while we try to avoid such situations, we have no control over our manufacturers' delivery problems. We reserve the right to limit quantities, correct pricing errors & require credit office approval of time payment sales. Prevailing taxes will be added to prices.
